COOPER SOURCE AWARDS

Cooper Lighting announced the winners of its 35th Annual SOURCE Awards national lighting design competition at the 2012 Keynote Speaker Luncheon. Five professional awards and six student awards were presented.

Top honors in the Professional Commercial Category went to Focus Lighting, Inc., New York City, for the lighting of The Chandelier lounge and bar located at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas. In the Professional Residential Category, Robert Singer and Associates, Inc., Basalt, Co, won for lighting a townhome located in Vail, Co. In the Student Category, the team of Francis D'Andrea, Derek Sommers and Austin Weller from the University of Cincinnati picked up the winning honor for their conceptual lighting design project of an upscale health spa titled Full Disclosure.

Professional winners Focus Lighting, Inc. and Robert Singer and Associates, Inc. received a $2,000 monetary award. Student winners D'Andrea, Sommers and Weller split a $1,500 award. All winners were presented with a crystal trophy and offered an invitation to attend a complimentary class at the SOURCE, Cooper Lighting's education center.
